

SECTION 4: COUNTY PROFILE

This profile describes the general information of the County (physical setting, population and demographics, general building stock, and land use and population trends) and critical facilities located within Burlington County. In Section 5, specific profile information is presented and analyzed to develop an understanding of the study area, including the economic, structural, and population assets at risk and the particular concerns that may be present related to hazards analyzed (for example, a high percentage of vulnerable persons in an area).

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Lenni-Lenape Indians were the original aboriginal owners of Burlington County. In October 1677, a group of English debarked from the ship Kent and founded the Town of Burlington. Burlington County was later incorporated on May 17, 1694. The American Indians sold more and more of their lands to the new settlers until finally, in 1801, there remained less than 100 adult American Indians on the Indian Mills reservation, which was the first American Indian reservation in the U.S. and the American Indian's last dwelling place in Burlington County (Burlington County HMP, 2008).

The County's waterways were a principal factor in the early and successful seating of Burlington County. These transportation systems were vital at the time to trade, travel and provincial existence. Consequently the earliest homes and the earliest settlements were on the waterways. Burlington, thriving at its river location, was the port of entry. Various of its early inhabitants moved on to establish farms in the fertile valleys, being generally careful to choose creek-valleys where a landing and a waterway insured easy transport to Burlington or Philadelphia (Burlington County HMP, 2008).

According to the 2010 U.S. Census data, the County's population was 448,734. Burlington County is the 11th most populated county in New Jersey (U.S. Census Bureau, 2010).

Physical Setting

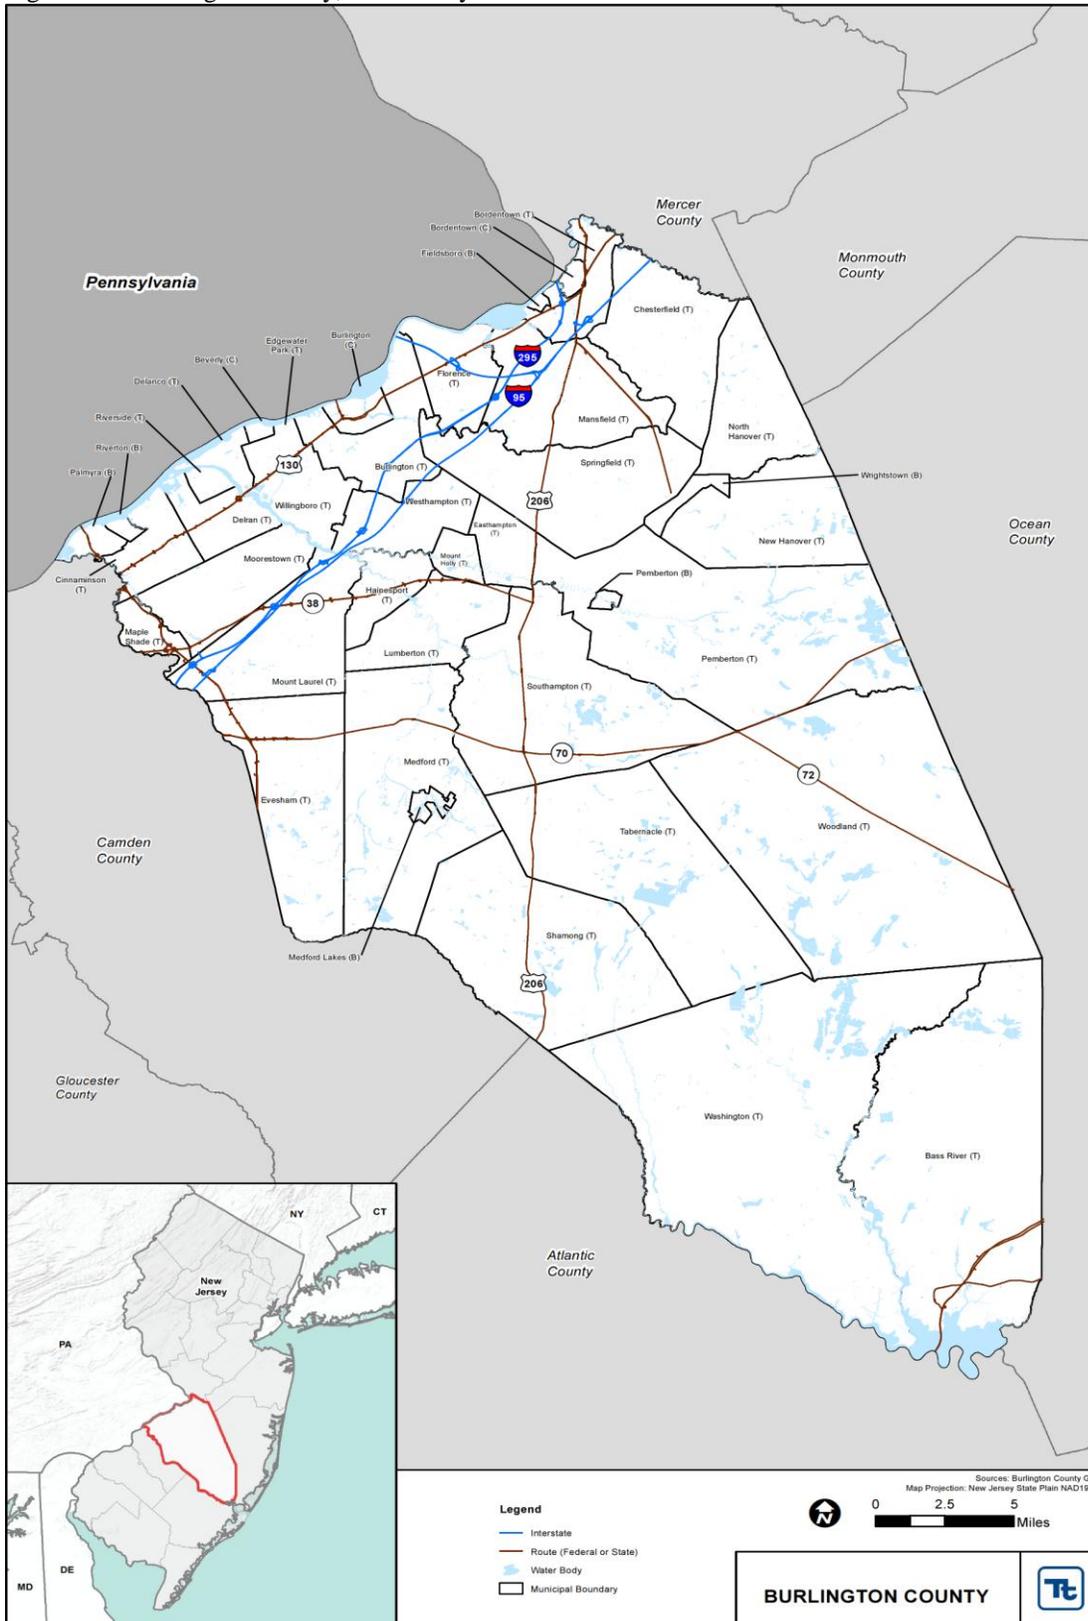

This section presents the physical setting of the County, including: location, hydrography and hydrology, topography and geology, climate, and land use/land cover.

Location

Burlington County is the largest county in New Jersey, covering 827 square miles, and extends from the Delaware River to the Great Bay. Burlington County is bordered to the north by Mercer County, to the northeast by Monmouth County, to the east by Ocean County, to the southwest by Atlantic County and to the west by Camden County. The Delaware River separates Burlington County from Pennsylvania to the west. The County has a total area of 529,351 acres including 5,191 acres of water (Burlington County, 2013). Figure 4-1 illustrates Burlington County and its surrounding area.

Forty municipalities exist within the County, consisting of three cities, six borough and 31 townships. The county seat is located in Mount Holly (Burlington County, 2013). Burlington County is located within the Philadelphia-Camden-Wilmington Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA). Burlington County features a variety of land uses including densely populated urban development to preserved open space and military use.

Hydrography and Hydrology

Numerous ponds, lakes, creeks, and rivers make up the waterscape of Burlington County, which lie within two drainage basins (Lower Delaware Basin and New Jersey Coastal Basin) and three sub-basins (Crosswicks-Neshaminy, Lower Delaware, and Mullica-Toms) (NJDEP, 2012; USEPA, 2013). The major bodies of water and waterways within the County include: Delaware River, Oswego River, Bass River, Batsto River, Mullica River, Wading River, West Branch Wading River, Rancocas Creek, North Branch Rancocas Creek, South Branch Rancocas Creek, Southwest Branch Rancocas Creek, Crosswicks Creek, Big Timber Creek, South Branch Mount Misery Brook, Shoal Branch, Greenwood Branch, and Great Bay (National Atlas, 2013).

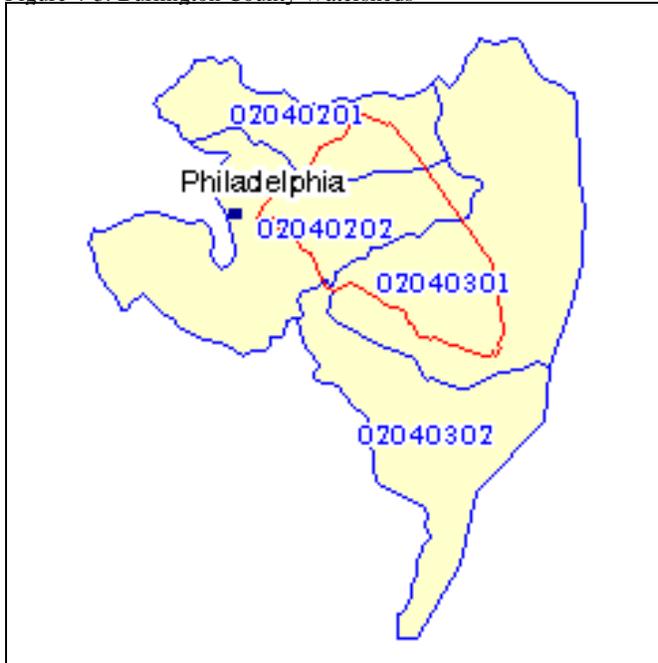

Figure 4-2 depicts the 20 Watershed Management Areas (WMAs) and drainage basins found in New Jersey and Figure 4-3 depicts the watersheds of Burlington County.

Figure 4-4 indicates that Burlington County is located in two Watershed Management Areas in New Jersey, Rancocas (19) and Mullica (14). Watershed Management Area 14, Mullica, includes watersheds draining portions of the Pinelands of New Jersey. It is approximately 561 square miles in size and approximately 80% of this watershed consists of state parks and forests. Major rivers include the Mullica, Wading River, Nochescatauxin Brook, Atsion Creek, Bass River, Batsto River, Nescochaque Creek, Landing Creek, Hammonton Creek and the Oswego River. This Management Area lies in Burlington, Atlantic and Ocean Counties and includes the watersheds of Mullica River, Mechescatauxin Creek, Wading River, Atsion Creek, Batsto River, and Doughty Creek. The Mullica River and its tributaries are considered the primary drainage system for the Pinelands (NJDEP, 2012).

Watershed Management Area 19, Rancocas, is the largest watershed in south-central New Jersey and is made up of the North and South Branch and the Mainstem of the Rancocas Creek, including Mill Creek. Portions of Burlington, Camden and Ocean Counties and approximately 33 municipalities make up this management area and covers an area of 360 square miles. Of its total area, the North Branch drains 167 square miles and the South Branch drains 144 square miles. The North Branch is 31 miles long and is fed by the Greenwood Branch, McDonalads Branch and Mount Misery Brook. The major tributaries to the South Branch include the Southwest Branch Rancocas Creek, Stop the Jade Run, Haynes Creek and Friendship Creek (NJDEP, 2012).

Topography and Geology

Burlington County lies within the Atlantic Coastal Plain. The lowest part of the County is sea level at the Delaware River and the highest point is Arneys Mount, located in the Township of Springfield, at an elevation of approximately 260 feet above sea level (FEMA FIS, 2010). The Atlantic Coastal Plain is one of the four major physiographic regions of New Jersey (Figure 4-5). The unconsolidated deposits of the Coastal Plain dip gently to the southeast and range in age from the upper Cretaceous to Miocene (90 to 10 million years old) (Dalton, 2003).

Figure 4-5. Physiographic Provinces in Burlington County

Source: Dalton, 2003

According to the New Jersey Geological Survey (NJGS), the Coastal Plain begins with a broad trough that extends along the southern border of the Piedmont Province from the Raritan Bay to Trenton. Near Monmouth Junction the trough floor forms a saddle and it reaches an elevation of about 80 feet. East of that depression is a drainage divide between the Delaware River and Atlantic Ocean. The maximum elevation of the Coastal Plain, located at Crawford Hill, is 391 feet. The streams that flow northwest to the Delaware have narrow valleys, are shorter and have steeper gradients than streams that flow northwest to the Delaware which are shorter and have steeper gradients than the streams that flow southeast. The Highlands of Navesink at 266 feet above sea level is the highest point directly on the coast (Dalton, 2003).

Like New Jersey, Burlington County has distinct geological regions within the County. The Coastal Plain is divided into three subdivisions including the inner lowland, the inner upland, and the outer lowland. In Burlington County the inner lowland is the area bordering the Delaware River, where elevations rarely exceed 100 feet above sea level. Streams in this inner lowland area drain to the Delaware River (Lucey, 1977).

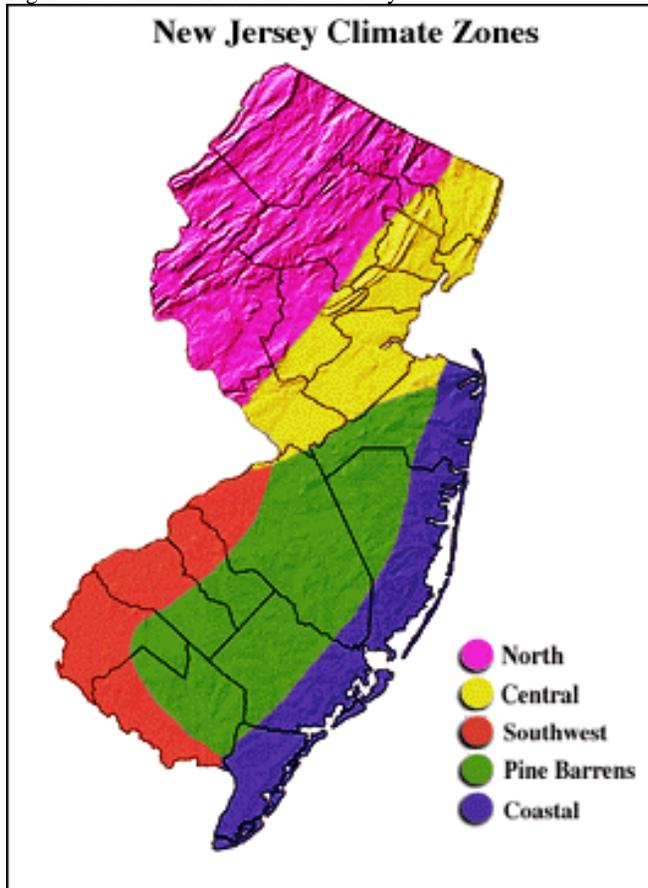

The inner upland forms the drainage divide in the county and is a narrow, slightly dissected cuesta with some elevations up to 200 feet. Erosional remnants for the prominent hills of Mount Holly, Juliustown, and Arney's Mount. The sands and gravel in these hills, in addition to having been protected by capping gravels, have frequently been partially cemented by iron-oxide precipitated by water percolating down through the ground (Lucey, 1977).

Southern Burlington County lies within the outer lowland where elevations rarely exceed 50 feet. Streams within this subprovince empty into the Atlantic Ocean. Sloping gently towards the sea, the flat terrain of this area has been slightly modified by the Mullica, Wading, and Bass Rivers (Lucey, 1977).

Climate

New Jersey is located about halfway between the equator and the North Pole, on the eastern coast of the U.S. Due to its geographic location, New Jersey is influenced by wet, dry, hot, and cold airstreams, creating a highly variable climate (ONJSC, Date Unknown). Five climate zones make up New Jersey – North, Central, Southwest, Pine Barnes, and Coastal. Figure 4-6 illustrates the climate zones of New Jersey.

As shown of Figure 4-6, Burlington County primarily located within the Pine Barrens zone, with the southeastern tip of the County located in the Coastal zone and the north and northwest portions in the central and southwest climate regions. Details regarding these climate zones are described below.

- Pine Barrens Climate Zone - Scrub pine and oak forests dominate the interior southern portion of New Jersey, hence the name, Pine Barrens. Sandy soils, which are porous and not very fertile, have a major effect on the climate of this region. On clear nights, solar radiation absorbed during the day is quickly radiated back into space, resulting in surprisingly low minimum temperatures. Atlantic City Airport, which is surrounded by sandy soil, can be 15-20 degrees cooler than the Atlantic City Marina on the bay, which is only about thirteen miles away.

The porous soil permits any precipitation to rapidly infiltrate and leave surfaces quite dry. Drier conditions allow for a wider range between the daily maximum and minimum temperatures, and makes the area vulnerable to forest fires.

- Southwest Climate Zone - lies between sea level and approximately 100 feet above sea level. The close proximity to Delaware Bay adds a maritime influence to the climate of this region. The Southwest has the highest average daily temperatures in the state and without sandy soils, tends to have higher nighttime minimum temperatures than in the neighboring Pine Barrens (ONJSC, 2013).

This region receives less precipitation than the Northern and Central regions of the state as there are no orographic features and, it is farther away from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence storm track.

It is also far enough inland to be away from the heavier rains from some coastal storms, thus it receives less precipitation than the Coastal Zone (ONJSC, 2013).

Prevailing winds are from the southwest, except in winter when west to northwest winds dominate. High humidity and moderate temperatures prevail when winds flow from the south or east. The moderating effect of the water also allows for a longer growing season. Autumn frosts usually occur about four weeks later here than in the North and the last spring frosts are about four weeks earlier, giving this region the longest growing season in New Jersey (ONJSC, 2013).

- Coastal Climate Zone - In autumn and early winter, when the ocean is warmer than the land surface, the Coastal Zone will experience warmer temperatures than interior regions of the state. In the spring months, ocean breezes keep temperatures along the coast cooler. Being adjacent to the Atlantic Ocean, with its high heat capacity (compared to land), seasonal temperature fluctuations tend to be more gradual and less prone to extremes.

Sea breezes play a major role in the coastal climate. When the land is warmed by the sun, heated air rises, allowing cooler air at the ocean surface to spread inland. Sea breezes often penetrate 5-10 miles inland, but under more favorable conditions, can affect locations 25-40 miles inland. They are most common in spring and summer.

Burlington County has a temperate climate with warm summers and moderate winters. The annual precipitation averages approximately 43 inches, which is generally distributed evenly throughout the year (FEMA FIS, 2010).

Land Use and Land Cover

Burlington County’s land area is occupied and utilized in several different ways. This includes agricultural land, barren land, forested land, urban land, and wetlands. In 2002, 19.2 percent of the land in Burlington County was used for residential, industrial, transportation, and recreational purposes. Compared to the 2007 figures which indicates that 20.9 of the County was developed for these purposes, it is clear that there has been an increase in urban land use. Also in 2002 38.1 percent was forested land; 11.2 percent was agricultural land; 31.1 percent was wetlands; and 0.9 percent was barren land. When compared with the land use land cover data set from 2007, there has been a decrease in agricultural land to 10.7 percent, barren land to 0.7 percent, forest to 37.2 percent and wetlands to 30.8 percent with an increase in urban land use to 20.8 percent. Refer to Table 4-1 and Figure 4-7 below.

Metropolitan/Urban Area

The Census Bureau classifies ‘urban’ as all territory, population, and housing units located within an urbanized area (UA) or an urban cluster (UC). It delineates UA and UC boundaries to encompass densely settled territory, which consist of core census block groups or blocks that have a population density of at least 1,000 people per square mile; and surrounding census blocks that over an overall density of at least 500 people per square mile. An urbanized area is a densely populated area with a population density of more than 1,000 people per square mile and a population of more than 50,000 (Demographia, 2001). Urban clusters are defined in the same manner as urbanized areas; however, an urban cluster has a population density of 2,500 people per square mile and a population of more than 50,000 (Center for Information Development and Service, Date Unknown). With a population of over 448,000 and a population density of approximately 500 people per square mile, Burlington County is not considered an urban area.

Burlington County is one of the 12 counties within the Philadelphia-Camden-Wilmington Metropolitan Statistical Area, which is the sixth most populous metropolitan area in the United States. The MSA has a 2010 population of 5,965,343, which includes Burlington County. The MSA also has approximately 4,377 square miles of land. (U.S. Census Bureau). This metropolitan area is made up of 5 divisions as indicated in Figure 4-8.

POPULATION AND DEMOGRAPHICS

According to the 2010 U.S. Census, Burlington County had a population of 448,734 people. This is in agreement with the data included in HAZUS-MH which is based on the 2000 U.S. Census data. Table 4-2 presents the population statistics for Burlington County based on the 2000 U.S. Census data. Figure 4-9 shows the distribution of the general population density (persons per square mile) by Census block. For the purposes of this plan, data available in HAZUS-MH are used (representing 2000 data). This data is considered appropriate given the relatively small population increase between 2000 and 2008.

DMA 2000 requires that HMPs consider socially vulnerable populations. These populations can be more susceptible to hazard events, based on a number of factors including their physical and financial ability to react or respond during a hazard and the location and construction quality of their housing. For the purposes of this study, vulnerable populations shall include (1) the elderly (persons aged 65 and over) and (2) those living in low-income households.

* Individuals below poverty level (2012 Census poverty threshold for a 3-person family unit is $17,959)

 Households with an income of less than $20,000

 2010 Census Data not available

It is noted that the census data for household income provided in HAZUS-MH includes two ranges ($0-10,000 and $10,000-$20,000/year) that were totaled to provide the “low-income” data used in this study. This does not correspond exactly with the “poverty” thresholds established by the U.S. Census Bureau, which identifies households with an annual household income below $17,959 per year as “low income”. This difference is not believed to be significant for the purposes of this planning effort.

The 2010 U.S. Census data also identified 9,337 of the 165,727 households as having an annual income of less than $15,000. The 2010 U.S. Census data indicates a total of 3.7 percent persons living in households below the poverty level. Figure 4-10 shows the distribution of persons over age 65 in Burlington County, while Figure 4-11 shows the distribution of low income persons.

GENERAL BUILDING STOCK

The 2010 U.S. Census data identifies 165,727 households in Burlington County. The U.S. Census data identified 175,615 housing units in Burlington County in 2010. U.S. Census defines household as all the persons who occupy a housing unit, and a housing unit as a house, an apartment, a mobile home, a group of rooms, or a single room that is occupied (or if vacant, is intended for occupancy) as separate living quarters. Therefore, you may have more than one household per housing unit. The median price of a single family home in Burlington County was estimated at $266,200 in 2010 (U.S. Census, 2010).

For this update, the default general building stock in HAZUS-MH was updated and replaced with a custom building inventory for Burlington County both at the aggregate and structure level. The updated building inventory was built using detailed the building footprints, parcels and structure-specific building attributes. Burlington County has a total building replacement value (structure and content) of greater than $62 billion. The Residential value makes up approximately 66 percent of the total replacement value. Table 4-3 presents replacement value statistics by occupancy class for Burlington County.

Note: Value reflects the replacement cost for building structure and contents. Generally, contents for residential structures are valued at about 50 percent of the building's value. For non-residential facilities, the value of the content is generally about equal to the building's structural value.

The 2010 Census data identify that the majority of housing units (61.7 percent) in Burlington County are single-family detached units. The 2011 U.S. Census Bureau's County Business Patterns data identified 10,330 business establishments employing 173,807 people in Burlington County. The majority (5,494) of these establishments employed between one and four employees.

Figure 4-12 through Figure 4-14 show the distribution and exposure density of residential, commercial and industrial buildings in Burlington County. Exposure density is the dollar value of structures per unit area, including building content value. Generally, contents for residential structures are valued at about 50 percent of the building's value. For commercial facilities, the value of the content is generally about equal to the building's structural value. Actual content value varies widely depending on the usage of the structure. The densities are shown in units of $1,000,000 ($M) per square mile.

Viewing exposure distribution maps, such as Figures 4-12 through 4-14, can assist communities in visualizing areas of high exposure and in evaluating aspects of the study area in relation to the specific hazard risks.

LAND USE AND POPULATION TRENDS

Local zoning and planning authority is provided for under the New Jersey Municipal Land Use Law, which gives municipalities zoning and planning authority. DMA 2000 requires that communities consider land use trends, which can impact the need for, and priority of, mitigation options over time. Land use trends significantly impact exposure and vulnerability to various hazards. For example, significant development in a hazard area increases the building stock and population exposed to that hazard.

This plan provides a general overview of population and land use and types of development occurring within the study area. An understanding of these development trends can assist in planning for further development and ensuring that appropriate mitigation, planning, and preparedness measures are in place to protect human health and community infrastructure.

Land Use Trends

Since large portions of Burlington County is rural, there is an emphasis of preserving many of the natural resources in the County. Future development must balance the need for preserved lands as well as the demands of a growing county. This requires cooperations amongst the County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the community, and key development stakeholders in the County.

According to the Northern Burlington County Growth and Preservation Plan (2008), a balanced approach to growth is needed. Specific elements of this plan call for the preservation of farmland and open space, new development that occurs in the form of livable, lively hamlets, villages and towns which avoid low-density development. Additionally, public utilities must be provided in a manner in which it is cost effective and predictable. Another element of the vision is a community designed to accommodate a diverse set of economic and social backgrounds. According to the plan, development should also be clustered around transportation modes, and it should encourage agricultural preservation.

Agricultural Land

New Jersey is the most densely populated state in the nation. Farmland is disappearing at an average rate of 10,000 acres a year. Fields where dairy cows once grazed and peach trees once blossomed are now home to shopping malls, houses and highways (New Jersey Agricultural Preservation, Date Unknown).

Agriculture in Burlington County predates the arrival of European settlers. Native Americans farmed in the region, originally named Matinicum, at the time British Quakers arrived in the New World in the early 1600s. Native Americans cultivated a number of crops and, understanding the limitations of soils, rotated fields in order to prevent the depletion of soils. As early European settlers arrived, they were able to begin cultivation on small fields utilized by Native Americans immediately rather than having to clear forested lands. An abundance of good agricultural soils and proximity to major urban centers contributed significantly to the development of the county's early agricultural industry (Burlington County Agricultural Development Board, 2008).

Agricultural land is used primarily for the production of food and fiber. This includes cropland, pastureland, and orchards. According to the NJDEP, agricultural land includes pasturelands and grazing lands associated with horse or cattle raising operations, orchards, vineyards, nurseries and other horticultural areas. Other lands used in support of agricultural activities, such as farmsteads, associated barns, stables, and corrals, are also included (NJDEP, 2007).

Agriculture is an integral part of the natural landscapes that comprise the County. Burlington County’s natural and agricultural landscapes are attractive to many farmers. According to the 2007 Census of Agriculture, there were 85,790 acers of farmland in the County, or approximately 16 % of the total lands in the County. This is significantly less than the 2002 survey which indicated that there were 111,237 acers of farmland or 21% of the total lands in the County. In 2007, there were 922 active farms in the County. The number of farms is up from 2002 when there were 906. Table 4-4 outlines the number of farms, average farm size and total acreage of farms in Burlington County from 1900 to 2007.

Table 4-5 outlines the top crop items grown in Burlington County, along with the number of acres devoted to these crops. The table indicates that soybeans for beans is the predominant crop in the County and ranks second in the State for total acres of soybeans.

With active agriculture extending from the Pinelands throughout northern Burlington County, the County has always been one of the leading agricultural counties in the nation. The largest blueberries in the world were developed and raised in Burlington County and the County is ranked as the second largest blueberry-producing and third largest cranberry-producing county in the U.S. There are more acres devoted to farming than any county in the state, primarily in vegetable, fruit and timber production (Burlington County HMP, 2008).

Source(s): U.S. Department of Agriculture National Agricultural Statistics Service, 2007; Burlington County Comprehensive Farmland Preservation Plan, 2008

Burlington County has adopted a Comprehensive Farmland Preservation Plan which lays out a strategy for preservation of this vital resource. Over 26,500 acres have been permanently protected from conversion to nonagricultural uses through permanent deed-restrictions. In addition, roughly 23,000 acres of land in agricultural planning areas of the state-regulated New Jersey Pinelands have been deed-restricted through the Pinelands Development Credit Program. In total, nearly 50,000 acres (roughly 45 percent of the existing agricultural land base) have been protected from conversion to non-agricultural uses (Burlington County Agricultural Development Board, 2008).

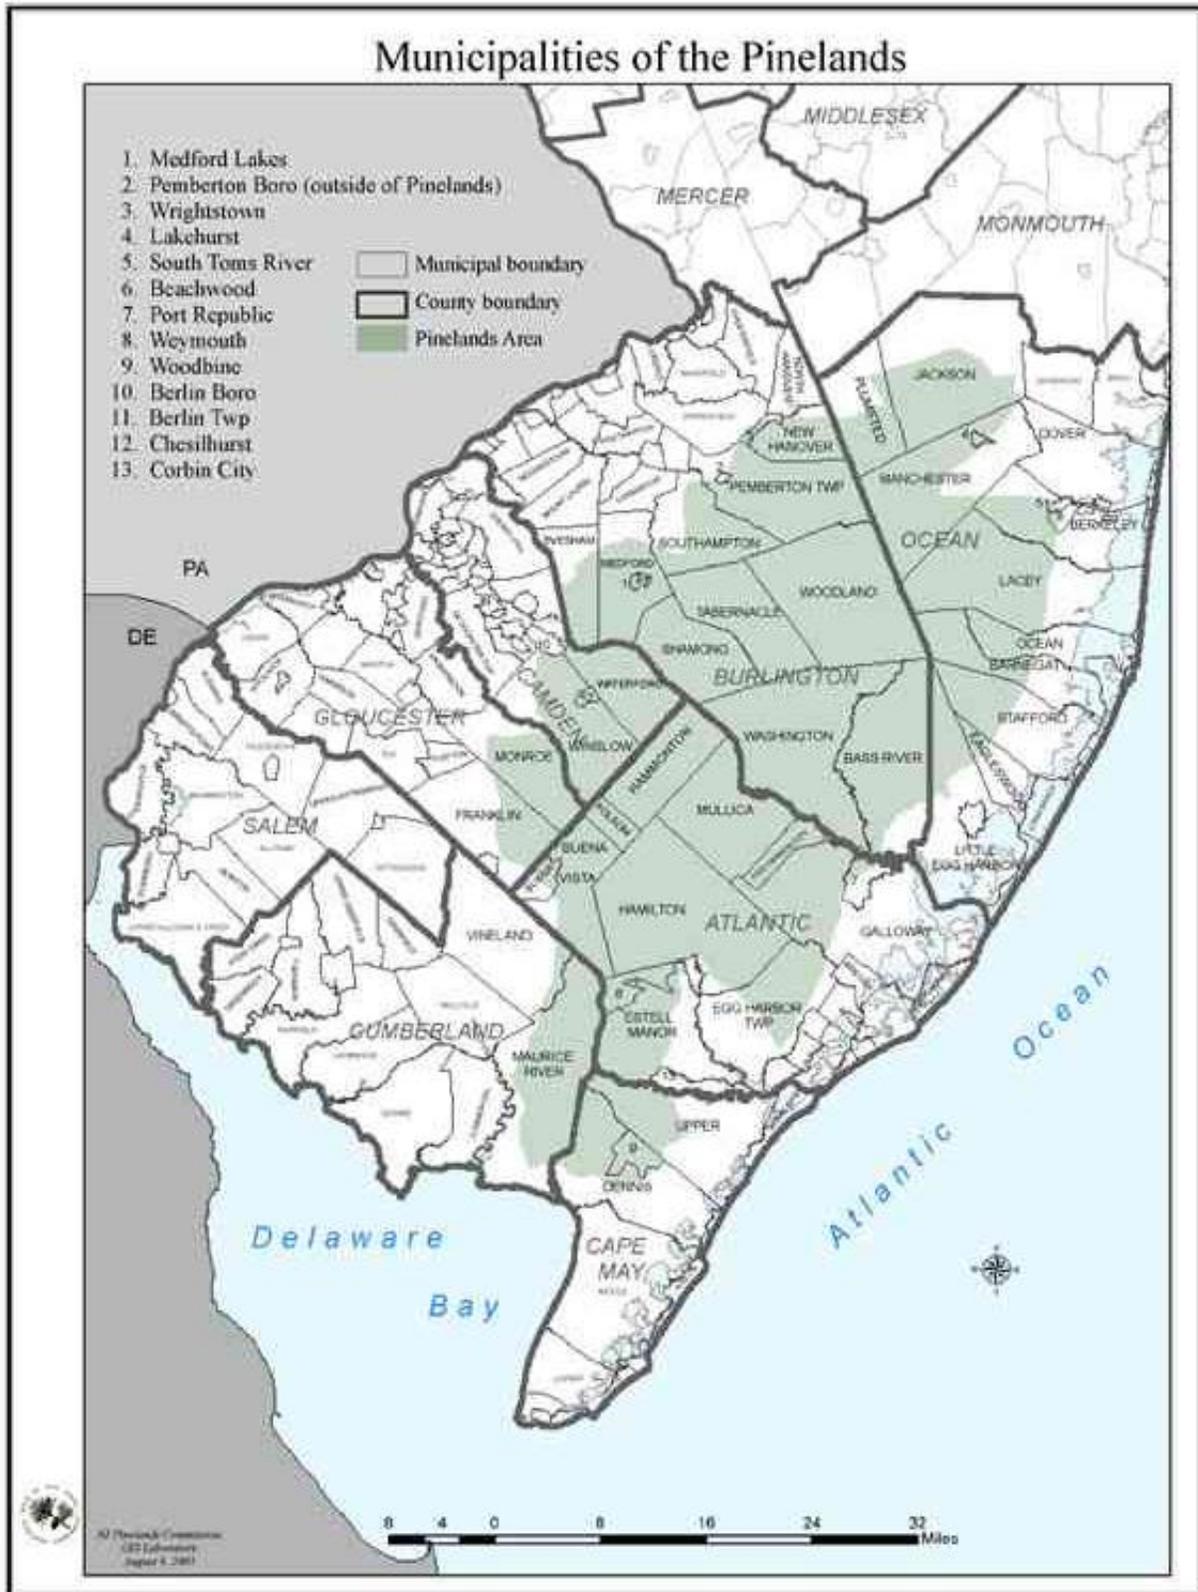

Pineland National Reserve

The Pinelands National Reserve (PNR) was created by Congress under the National Parks and Recreation Act of 1978. The PNR is the first National Reserve in the nation. The PNR encompasses approximately 1.1 million acres covering portions of seven counties and all or parts of 56 municipalities (NJ Pinelands Commissions, 2013).

This internationally important ecological region is 1.1 million acres in size and occupies 22% of New Jersey's land area. It is the largest body of open space on the Mid-Atlantic seaboard between Richmond and Boston and is underlain by aquifers containing 17 trillion gallons of some of the purest water in the land (NJ Pinelands Commissions, 2013).

Approximately 64 percent of Burlington County's land area is under the jurisdiction of the New Jersey Pinelands Commission. Fourteen of Burlington County's 40 municipalities have area within the Pinelands. In its 2004 long-term monitoring report, the Pinelands Commission estimated that, as of 2002, 23 percent of the county's population and 21 percent of the county's housing units were located within the Pinelands (Burlington County HMP, 2008). Figure 4-15 illustrates the location of and municipalities within the Pinelands.

Open Space

Open space is defined as a portion of a site which is permanently set aside for public or private use and will not be developed. The space may be used for passive or active recreation, or may be reserved to protect or buffer natural areas (Kwon et al., 2007). As of 2002, Burlington County had 1,500 preserved acres of land designated for open space. The Burlington County Freeholders have focused on expanding the parks system to include:

- Regional Parks
- Recreation Areas
- Natural Resource Areas
- Special Use Areas

Connectivity will be a high priority in park planning and design. Pathway facilities and linkages in the Burlington County Parks System will include:

- park trails
- connector trails
- bikeways
- water or canoe trails
- all terrain bike trails
- cross-country ski trails
- equestrian trails

The Burlington County Park System consists of 12 county parks and historic sites. Table 4-6 outlines locations included in the County park system, as well as State parks in the County. These parks range from small to large and feature aquatic features and hiking trails.

Population Trends

This section discusses population trends to use as a basis for estimating future changes of the population and significantly change the character of the area. Population trends can provide a basis for making decisions on the type of mitigation approaches to consider and the locations in which these approaches should be applied. This information can also be used to support planning decisions regarding future development in vulnerable areas.

According to the U.S. Census Bureau Burlington County's 2010 population was 448,734 persons, which is a six-percent increase from the 2000 Census population of 423,394. From 1900 to 2010, the County has experienced a constant growth in population. The largest increase was seen between the years 1950 to 1960, when the County experienced a 65.2 percent (88,589 persons) population increase. From 1890 – 1900 the population decreased 0.5 percent (-287). Table 4-7 displays the population and population differences from 1900 to 2010 in Burlington County. Table 4-8 displays the population of the County's municipalities from 1940 to 2010. Figure 4-16 depicts the past, current, and projected population statistics/trends for the County.

Between 1990 and 2010, nine of the 40 municipalities experienced an overall decrease in their population all other of the municipalities saw an increase in their populations from 2000 to 2010. The municipalities which experienced population decreases were the Townships of Bass River, Easthampton, Mount Holly, New Hanover, Pemberton, and Willingboro, the Cities of Beverly and Bordentown, and the Borough of Medford Lakes. The Township of New Hanover experienced the greatest loss of population, losing 24% of its population from 2000. The Township of Woodland Township experienced a population increase of 53%.

Table 4-9 displays the 2010 CENSUS population for the ten largest municipalities by population in Burlington County. According to the Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission's 2040 population estimates, the County population is expected to reach 457,126 by 2020, and 494,732 by 2040. This is an increase of 45,998 persons by 2040. (DVRPC 2040 Population Estimates) With the predicted population increase, urban (residential) land use will increase, while other land uses, such as agriculture and forested land, may decrease over time.

DRAFT

CRITICAL FACILITIES

A comprehensive inventory of critical facilities in Burlington County was developed from the Burlington County Department of Information Technology, GIS Division. The inventory of critical facilities presented in this section represents the current state of this effort at the time of publication of the HMP and was used for the risk assessment in Section 5.

Essential Facilities

This section provides information on emergency facilities, hospital and medical facilities, schools, shelters and senior care and living facilities.

Emergency Facilities

For the purposes of this Plan, emergency facilities include police, fire, emergency medical services (EMS) and emergency operations centers (EOC). Tables 4-11 through 4-14 provide an inventory of these emergency facilities in Burlington County.

Critical facilities are those facilities considered critical to the health and welfare of the population and that are especially important following a hazard. As defined for this HMP, critical facilities include essential facilities, transportation systems, lifeline utility systems, high-potential loss facilities and hazardous material facilities.

Essential facilities are a subset of critical facilities that include those facilities that are important to ensure a full recovery following the occurrence of a hazard event. For the County risk assessment, this category was defined to include police, fire, EMS, EOCs, schools, shelters, senior facilities and medical facilities.

Emergency Facilities are for the purposes of this Plan, emergency facilities include police, fire, emergency medical services (EMS) and emergency operations centers (EOC).

Transportation Systems

This section presents available inventory data for roadways, airports, railways and other transportation systems in Burlington County. Figure 4-20 shows regional transportation lifelines serving the County.

Highway, Roadways and Associated Systems

Interstates 295 and 95 are the major north-south routes that pass through the County. These routes are vital northeast corridors which connect major cities of the east coast. Additionally, a small portion of Interstate 276 connects Interstates 95 and 295 to northern Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania Turnpike's Northeast Extension. Along the eastern edge of the County the Garden State Parkway (US Route 9), another north-south route passes through the County. The Garden State Parkway extends from New York to the tip of Cape May County. This route is one of only two routes in the US with a ferry, as the Cape May-Lewes Ferry connects Cape May to Lewes, Delaware. Other important routes in Burlington County are U.S. Route 206 (north-south), U.S. Route 130 (north-south), NJ Route 70 (east-west), and NJ Route 72 (east-west).

Public Transportation

Burlington County is served primarily by New Jersey Transit bus and rail lines. The NJ Transit River Line connects to Amtrak's Northeast Corridor at Trenton and to PATCO which connects Philadelphia to Camden. These lines provide the connection between Burlington County and other major cities such as Washington D.C., Baltimore, MD, Wilmington, DE, Philadelphia, PA, and New York, NY. Rail service extends to points north and south. Table 4-20 lists the riverline stations located in the County.

Lifeline Utility Systems

This section presents potable water, wastewater, and energy resource utility system data. Due to heightened security concerns, local utility lifeline data sufficient to complete the analysis have only partially been obtained.

Potable Water Supply

New Jersey American Water, or NJAW, serves more than 80,000 people in 20 communities in Burlington County and more than two million people in the Garden State. NJAW's main production facility in the region is the Delaware River Water Treatment Plant (DRWTP), located in Delran. The DRWTP produces an average of 22 million gallons of water per day and serves customers in Burlington, Camden and Gloucester counties. The largest water purveyor in the state, NJAW is a wholly owned subsidiary subsidiary of American Water, the largest private water services provider in North America. Headquartered in Voorhees, American Water employs approximately 6,900 professionals who provide high quality water, wastewater and other related services to more than 16.2 million people in 32 states and Ontario, Canada (Burlington County Economic Resource Guide, 2008).

Aqua America New Jersey provides drinking water and wastewater services to 150,000 residents in 18 municipalities in nine New Jersey counties (Burlington County Economic Resource Guide, 2008).

Burlington County's water is predominately from surface water sources. Additionally, a small portion of the water supply is well water from wellfields distributed throughout the system (Sleeper, 2008).

High-Potential Loss Facilities

High-potential loss facilities include dams, levees, hazardous materials facilities (HAZMAT), nuclear power plants and military installations. No nuclear power plants or military installations were identified in the County. Dams, levees and HAZMAT facilities are discussed below.

Dams and Levees

According to the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (NJDEP), there are four hazard classifications of dams in New Jersey. The classifications relate to the potential for property damage and/or loss of life should the dam fail:

- Class I (High-Hazard Potential) - Failure of the dam may result in probable loss of life and/or extensive property damage
- Class II (Significant-Hazard Potential) - Failure of the dam may result in significant property damage; however loss of life is not envisioned.
- Class III (Low-Hazard Potential) - Failure of the dam is not expected to result in loss of life and/or significant property damage.
- Class IV (Small-Dam Low-Hazard Potential) - Failure of the dam is not expected to result in loss of life or significant property damage. Dam must also meet the requirements of a Class IV dam above.

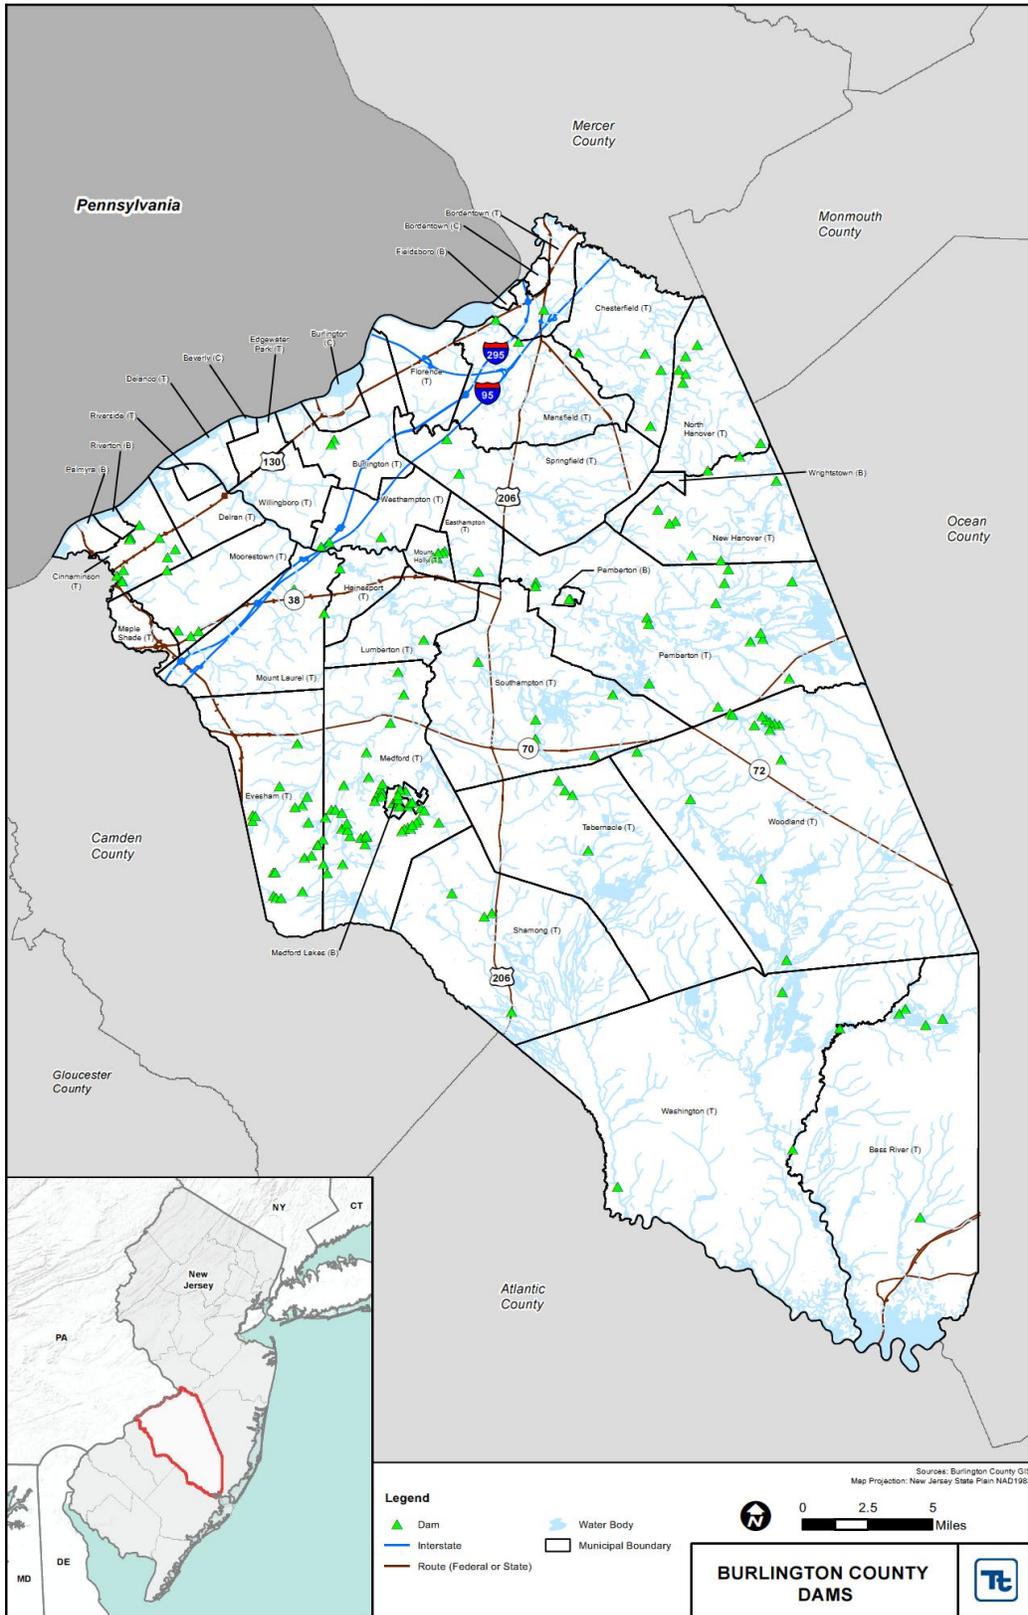

According to the NJDEP Bureau of Dam Safety, the following dams and their classifications are located in Burlington County (Table 4-26). Figure 4-24 illustrates the locations of these dams.

HAZMAT Facilities

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) 2013 Toxics Release Inventory (TRI) database indicates there are 74 TRI facilities in Burlington County. TRI facilities are those required to report on chemical storage and use based on particular volumes of specified chemicals stored and used (USEPA, 2013). NJDEP Bureau of Release Prevention identifies facilities in the County where an extraordinarily hazardous substance may be present or generated above regulatory levels that are subject to the Toxic Catastrophe Prevention Act, (N.J.S.A. 13:1K-19 et seq.) and the regulations arising from the Act as codified in N.J.A.C. 7:31 (NJDEP, 2007; NJDEP, 2008).

Other Facilities

The Planning Committee identified additional facilities (user-defined facilities) as critical including municipal buildings and dialysis centers. These facilities were included in the risk assessment conducted for the County. Table 4-27 lists the other facilities identified by Burlington County. Figure 4-25 illustrates the locations of these facilities.
